Four Principles

1. Bet on Leadership
2. Act as One
3. Win the Heart
4. Excel at Execution

If you want to build a high performance organization, you've got to play chess, not checkers.

THE FIVE LEVELS OF LEADERSHIP

5. PERSONHOOD - The Level of RESPECT

People follow because of who you are and what you represent. Your VALUES.

NOTE: This step is reserved for leaders who have spent years growing people and organizations. Just a Few make it to this level. Those who do are BIGGER THAN LIFE.

4. PEOPLE DEVELOPMENT - The Level of REPRODUCTION

People follow because of what you have done for THEM. What's in it for THEM.

NOTE: This is where long-range growth occurs. Your commitment to developing leaders will ensure ongoing growth to the organization and to people. Do whatever you can to achieve and stay on this level.

3. PRODUCTION - The Level of RESULTS

People follow because of what you have done for the organization. Accomplishments.

NOTE: This is where success is sensed by most people. They like you and what you are doing. Problems are fixed with very little effort because of momentum.

2. PERMISSION - The Level of RELATIONSHIPS

People follow because they want to follow YOU. They BELIEVE in You. They TRUST You.

They DON'T Have to, but they WANT to Follow You.

NOTE: People will follow you beyond your stated authority. This level allows work to be fun.

1. POSITION - The Level of RIGHTS

People follow because they HAVE TO. You have POSITIONAL Leadership. You are the Boss.

They don't have a choice. They HAVE TO follow, whether they want your leadership or not.

NOTE: Your influence will not extend beyond the lines of your job description. The longer you stay here, the higher the turnover and the lower the morale.

The true measure of leadership is influence - nothing more, nothing less.

Bet on Leadership

One of my worries about the idea of leadership is when it becomes this weighty, abstract concept, something talked about in the tones of Greek and Roman artifacts, something that is out of reach for most, yet permanent once obtained.

This worries me because leadership should be understood as something practiced and refined, often without commission or reward and sometimes done unconsciously. Many people simply go about their lives with purpose, integrity and camaraderie — that can be leadership without the concept ever being uttered... Leading is not separate from living, and that means there is no template or fixed end to the journey.

- James daSilva

"A mentor is someone who sees more talent and ability within you, than you see in yourself, and helps bring it out of you."

Bob Proctor

Act as One

- Decide what's important
 - Why are we here?
 - Where are we going?
 - What beliefs/values shape how we do our work?
- Get agreement from your leadership team
- Begin orchestrated effort to cascade and reinforce these messages throughout your organization.
 - Link the organization's why to the individual's why...

Why = The Purpose

What is your cause? What do you believe?

Apple: We believe in challenging the status quo and doing this differently

How = The Process

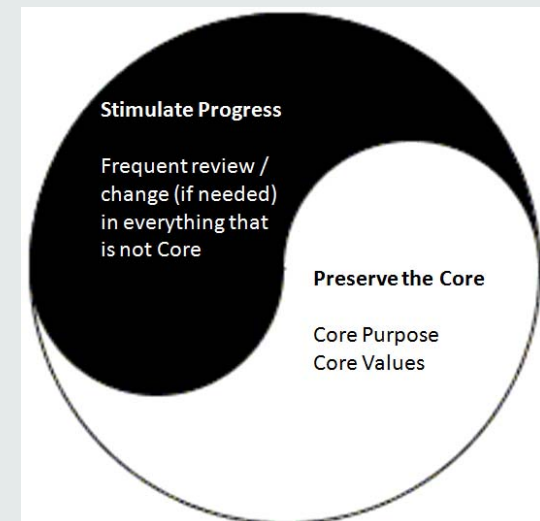

Specific actions taken to realize the Why.

Apple: Our products are beautifully designed and easy to use

What = The Result

What do you do? The result of Why. Proof.

Apple: We make computers

Win the Heart

- Great organizations are ones that create a place in which people willingly invest themselves fully in the work of the organization.

Win the Heart

- “Building employee engagement requires a degree of personal tailoring; leaders must identify what’s important to each individual worker and put to use their unique and often hidden talents. Making time to honor and acknowledge people for their effort and contributions is the final requirement.” - Lead from the Heart by Mark C. Crowley
- “We suspect that the best kept secret of successful leaders is love: Being in love with leading, with the people who do the work, with what the organizations produce and those who honor the organization by using its work. Leadership is an affair of the heart, not the head.” - The Leadership Challenge by James Kouzes and Barry Posner.
- Stock returns of the top 100 (best companies to work for) employers annually exceeded peers by a stunning 7-8%.

ENGAGED employees work with passion and feel a profound connection to their company. They drive innovation and move the organization forward.

NOT ENGAGED employees are essentially “checked out.” They’re sleepwalking through their workday, putting time -- but not energy or passion -- into their work.

ACTIVELY DISENGAGED employees aren’t just unhappy at work; they’re busy acting out their unhappiness. Every day, these workers undermine what their engaged coworkers accomplish.

Win the Heart

- Bob Chapman, CEO of Barry – Wehmiller on why they practice “Truly Human Leadership”
 1. Because seven out of eight people believe the company they work for does not care about them.
 2. Because everybody should have the opportunity to use their gifts and talents toward a shared vision.
 3. Because people should not be merely a means to a company’s financial success.
 4. Because people want to be led, not managed.
 5. Because everyone deserves the chance to return home from work each day feeling fulfilled by the work that they do.

Here are the B-W 10 Commandments of Truly Human Leadership:

1. Begin every day with a focus on the lives you touch.
2. Know that leadership is the stewardship of the lives entrusted to you.
3. Embrace leadership practices that send people home each day safe, healthy, and fulfilled.
4. Align all actions to an inspirational vision of a better future.
5. Trust is the foundation of all relationships; act accordingly.
6. Look for goodness in people and recognize and celebrate it daily.
7. Ask no more or less of anyone than you would of your own child.
8. Lead with a clear sense of grounded optimism.
9. Recognize and flex to the uniqueness of everyone.
10. Always measure success by the way you touch the lives of people.
